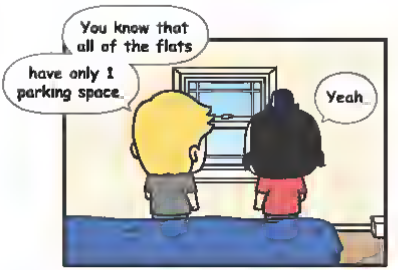
Porking control

Mev is a man who follows society's rules very well.

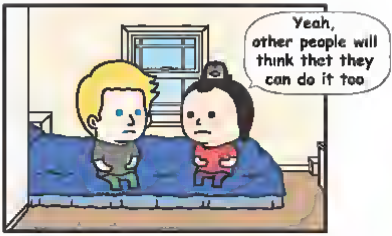
But recently,
one thing kept on bothering him.

Our flat is in a cul-de-sac with lots of newly built houses.

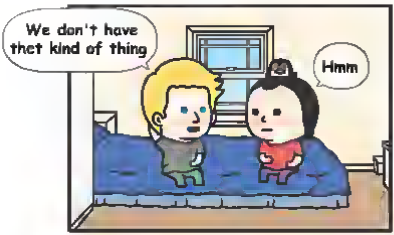


The houses have garages and the flats have one parking space each.

But it seemed like some people had two cars and they parked where they shouldn't.

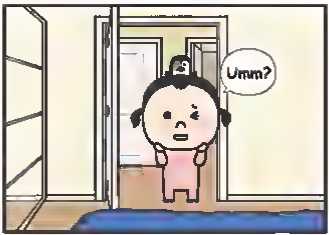


As there wasn't much space for driving or parking, thinking about the chaos that might happen in the future made us dizzy.

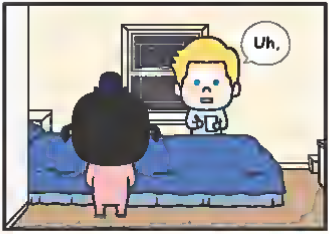


Anyway we finished our conversation by hoping that the situation wouldn't get any worse

That night.

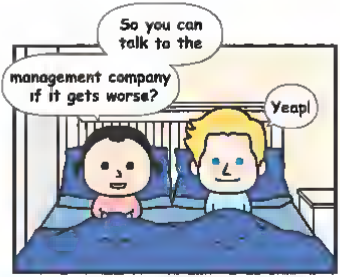


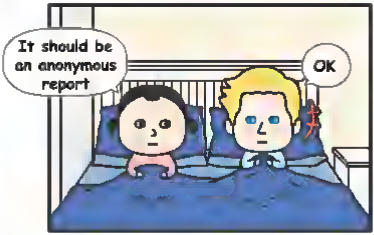
I saw that Mev was doing something next to the window.



Mev was...

... making a record.

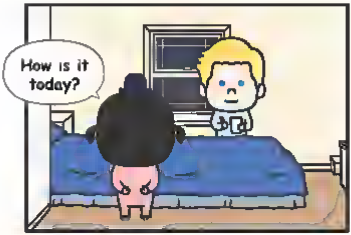




After he made his plan,....

... checking the car pork became something that he did every night before he went to bed.

I thought it was a quite a good thing that he considered himself ta be a supervisor and worked for everyone.



But one strange thing was...

...he seemed very happy when there was not many things to write down on his record,...

... but he also seemed disappointed.

WHAT IS THAT?